CITY COUNCIL BE ASKED AID FLOOD CONTROL

Verdugo Canyon Flood Control Called Joke by Committee

GLENDALE IS HELPLESS

Permanent Flood Control Necessary to Protect Property Here

The chamber of commerce Wednesday night appointed Messrs. Woodberry Hewitt and Reeves as a committee to investigate and get action on permanent flood control in the Verdugo Canyon wash. It is stated that when the county flood control committee set aside a portion of the bonds floated to protect each district that Glendale was promised a portion of the funds to be used in the Verdugo canyon wash. The city has been paying taxes on these bonds amounting to about $7000 annually and all that has been received to date is a structure of old pipe, wire and brush that, according to experts, would be a menace rather than a protection in case of a flood.

City Manager Reeves who was appointed a member of the chamber of commerce committee to secure permanent protection for the city of Glendale from flood waters rushing through the wash, said: "I am confident that William Mulholland, who built the Los Angeles aqueduct was right when he said that at present we were in the fifth year of a series of dry seasons that usually continue for 11 years. The seasons run in cycles and these cycles generally last for that length of time.

"We are in the midst of the dry cycle now and is the time to prepare for the wet seasons that are sure to follow. The protection offered the city through the present structure in the wash is a joke and would be a menace to the city in case of a flood as it would wash out with the first heavy rush of water and form a dam across the canyon that would turn the flood waters down into the city and cause another washout, similar to the one that I am told occurred here several years ago.

"The city has been paying about $7000 taxes annually on bonds for flood control in the county, of which bonds the city was to receive a reasonable amount to be used for protection. So far, all the city of Glendale has received is a practical joke in the shape of an alleged protective structure, constructed of rusty and more than likely castoff pipe, chicken wire and a quantity of brush thrown behind it as a flood check.

The opinions of the members of the committee are unanimous that what is needed to give protection is a line of trees planted along the wash that would serve to turn the waters from the town and would increase the durability of the present channel. Eucalyptus trees were suggested as the best. These trees are not deep rooted but City Manager Reeves, who is also an engineer, suggested that at the time of planting the trees, an excavation be made and plant them deeper in the ground than is usual thereby giving them more resistance power.

He further advocated that back of the first line of trees a second line be planted, the second line to consist of deep rooted trees, such as sycamores.

The committee will appear before the city council tonight, and ask that body to endorse the plans of the committee and the chamber to secure permanent protection for the city.

MILLIONS LEMON PIES MADE IN 1920

Twenty-two Million Boxes Oranges Shipped Out of State Last Year

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—Mother made a lot of lemon pies last year and the kiddies ate more oranges than ever before, according to figures of citrus fruit consumption given out in the annual report of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

The American public, representing mother's family, ate 22,000,000 boxes of oranges and 4,718,800 boxes of lemons last year, and so helped to consume the largest citrus crop California has ever produced.

Altogether, the exchange marketed 43,592 carloads for its 10,500 grower members, at a cost of 7.03 cents per box, or less than the marketing cost per box ten years ago, and less than the present cost of marketing for any other perishable crop. This was done in spite of high freight rates, which have forced the growers to organize their own steamship company to transport fruit in refrigerator steamers via the Panama Canal.

The report stresses the factors that have entered into the success of the citrus growers' association as follows:

Federated financing of distribution by thousands of producers; extensive national advertising; cooperative purchasing of supplies; standardization of grades, and systematic distribution.

HOOT, MON!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Harding went golfing early today with Harry Lauder, Scotch comedian. Despite a cold wind, Lauder was in his usual Scottish costume with his knees bare.

Golden Weddings; Building Churches; Science of Thought

Two items of news in today's Glendale Press stand out. One is the golden wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. E. Hoskyn, who dedicated their lives to God and to each other 50 years ago—back East. Mr. Hoskyn served the Methodist church as pastor for 35 years during the 50 years of married life. Unhappily, there are few couples today who celebrate the golden wedding anniversary. With patience, forebearance, unselfishness and prayer—Mr. and Mrs. Hoskyn will tell you—it is easy to be happy and live righteously.

Another item worthy of note is the decision of the Congregationalists of Glendale to erect a $60,000 house of worship. It is a fine advertisement for Glendale, with the new Catholic church just finished, a new Christian church started, a new Presbyterian church promised and a new Congregational church to come.

The coal strike in the East seems to be worrying Easterners. Coal isn't used in this section of the country. It would be as much out of place here as a cold-drink stand would be in Greenland.

If you are happy, read Foley's "Friendly Fancies" on the editorial page. If you are not happy, read it twice. The editorial page is full of interest to people who think. To others it will afford diversion.

THOUGHT IT CIDER BUT IT HAD KICK

"I thought it was cider. I was a fool for drinking it and I promise I will never do so again," is the plea S. S. Patrick offered Police Judge Lowe this morning at his hearing on a charge of being found at the side of the road on San Fernando road near Pacific street Wednesday evening in a drunken condition.

He told Judge Lowe that he drank the liquor that caused all of the trouble while in Los Angeles and that it did not affect him until he got off the street car in Glendale. After leaving the street car, he said, his mind became blank.

Judge Lowe lectured Patrick severely and sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail, but on account of his age he withheld commitment for two years. If Patrick appears in the local court on a similar charge within that period he will have to serve his sentence.

PROPOSED CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FOR GLENDALE AUTHORIZED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Members of Congregational Church Decide to Begin Work for Erection of New Edifice at Cost of $60,000. Work on the Structure Will Start About January 1st

THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH OF GLENDALE CALIFORNIA

Members of the First Congregational church had a red letter meeting Wednesday night, when they gathered at the church for dinner and a business session, which resulted in an unanimous vote to start proceedings at once for the erection of the proposed new church.

After an excellent dinner, over which Mrs. H. W. Yarick, Mrs. A. H. Chappell and assisting matrons had charge, Blake Franklin, as chairman of the building committee reported subscriptions and other resources, which demonstrated a bright financial outlook. The meeting was then thrown open to debate which proved to be all favorable to immediate action. So enthusiastic did members become that voluntarily they began doubling their subscriptions and $3500 was pledged without any call having been made for funds.

The church has already adopted the general plan and elevation prepared by Architect Carlton Monroe Winslow of Los Angeles, and the building committee was requested to instruct him to proceed at once with the preparation of detailed plans and specifications.

Two months will probably elapse before contracts can be let for the beautiful new church, which is to cost approximately $60,000. The main portion will front on Central avenue and will constitute the church auditorium with a seating capacity of 700. Beneath this will be a well lighted basement for social activities and a wing, which will face Wilson avenue, will provide up-to-date quarters and accommodations for church organizaitons. At the union of the wing and main edifice there will be a beautiful central tower rising from the triangle of ground on the corner of Central and Wilson, which will be beautified with a lawn and flowers.

HARRY ELLS HOME FROM TRIP EAST

Harry C. Ells, the Glendale realtor at 300 South Brand boulevard, has just returned from an overland auto trip to North Dakota and Minnesota for business and pleasure, which consumed two months and on which he was accompanied by Mrs. Ells.

Before leaving here Mr. Ells had provided himself with a large stock of attractive booklets on Glendale and of these he distributed not less than 5,000, besides advertising the city in the banner with which his machine was decorated.

The people he met everywhere, even in the small towns, had heard of Glendale though they often had vague ideas of its location in the state, but everywhere they were receptive and glad to hear more about our city.

On the return journey parking places were not easy to find unless one arrived early in the day, because of the hundreds of auto-tourists enroute for California, most of them with all the family in the machine and prepared to locate here. Mr. Ells declares we may look for a big influx of permanent residents. He found road conditions in Utah and Nevada quite bad and worse in Mexico and Arizona.

JUDGE LANDIS HAS THREE BIG CHECKS

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Checks of three Yankee ball players, their part of the world's series dough, were held up by Judge K. M. Landis today pending action on their cases for violation of the rule prohibiting barnstorming by members of teams which participated in the world's series. The checks, amounting to $3,262.27 each, were for Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Bill Piercey. All other players have received their share.

Landis is understood to have notified the Yankee management when Ruth and his team started their barnsotrming tour in defiance of the commissioner's orders, that he would withhold the checks. When the Yankee management told Ruth of this, he immediately cancelled his tour.

The judge is ready to hold the checks for some time, it is understood, in order to keep the three players worried for their violation of the rule. The fact that Landis has the checks is one reason why he has been in no hurry to make a decision in the case.

UNBRIDLED SPEECH IN SENATE CAUSE MORE DEBATE

Senator Watson of Georgia Refuses to Tell Committee Alleged Scandal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. — While Senator Watson today sought further evidence to support his sensational charges that American soldiers were hanged without trial in France, a dispute over unbridled senatorial speech and the responsibility of a senator for his remarks, developed in the senate.

The extent to which a senator could be held responsible for what he says in debate was argued by Watson's friends and opponents, while the fiery Georgian reiterated his refusal to go before the committee appointed to investigate his charges.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 3.—Captain W. M. Larner, post quartermaster at Fort Thomas, Ky., said Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, was mistaken about 21 sodiers having been hanged without proper trial in France during the war.

"Senator Watson has been misled by men with hectic imagination or an inordinate craving for publicity," said Larner. Larner at one time was quartermaster of the American camp at Gievres, France. He said he understood it was there the alleged hangings referred to by Watson were supposed to have taken plare.

"I can positively say there was only one hanging, authorized or unauthorized, at Gievres," said Larner.

PHILLIPS IS FROST SAYS OMAHA WHEN HARVEY ARRIVES

Taxi Driver Says Miner Isn't Such a Spender as Has Been Reported

OMAHA, Nov. 3.—As a claimant to the "biggest spender" title held by "Death Valley Scotty," Harvey M. Phillips, self-styled millionaire Mexican mining king, is a false alarm, in the opinion of Omaha taxi drivers and bellhops.

Phillips arrived here from Los Angeles and created a mild sensation by driving up and down the principal streets, tossing "chicken feed" to newsboys. A total of $17.60 was reported picked up by the boys.

"I was a newsboy once myself, and since I made my pile in Mexico, I want to see the kids happy," was all Phillips would say about himself.

Stories of banquets to newsies and gifts of clothing and shoes, printed in eastern papers, were said to be without foundation here.

"If dis guy is such a spender, why does he stop at a thoid rate hotel and grab his chow off the arm in cheap cafeterias?" Joe Rooney, a taxi driver, wanted to know. "He kicked on a $1.35 taxi charge," Rooney added.

"The only tips he gives us is 8-cent cigars," bellhops at Phillips' hotel declared.

Phillips refused to discuss himself. Reports that he is advertising a big movie film soon to be released were denied by local movie men.

LAND FOR SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Land totalling 339 6acres in Fremont and Lincoln counties and the Evanston land district, Wyoming, will be open to veterans of the World War for homestead and desert land entry for 63 days beginning December 30, 1921, the department of theh interior announced today. Filings may be presented within the 20-day period prior to that date.

DECORATE STREETS FOR LEGION WEEK POST DECIDES

Merchants Asked to Decorate Stores to Co-operate With Soldier Boys

Glendale streets will be decorated for Armistice week, it was decided last night at the meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion. The post will pay for the decorations between Broadway and Colorado and Brand boulevard and Orange street. The contract for decorating has been awarded the Allen Flagg Decorating Co., of Los Angeles. The merchants are asked to cooperate with the post by decorating the front of their stores.

Plans for the membership drive were also completed. The committee consists of Charles Guthrie, Richardson D. White, Clarence Edwards and W. B. Kelley. It will have a tent on the show grounds at Orange street during the week and will make it their headquarters. All members of the post will wear badges with a "Join Now" slogan printed on them. The Red Cross chapter will have a table in the tent where the workers in the annual Red Cross membership drive will have their headquarters. The drive will not end with the closing of the Armistice festivities, but will continue until the end of the year.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE TELLS JAPAN HOPE IS IN PUBLICITY

Touches on Various Questions Before World in United Press Interview

TOKIO, Nov. 3.—Lord Northcliffe, famous British publisher, advocated full publicity for the sessions of the Washington conference on limitation of armaments here today, addressing a dinner given him by newspaper publishers.

Later in an exclusive interview with the United Press he declared the Anglo-Japanese alliance had outlived its usefulness, and that sentiment is against its continuance. He then touched on the Irish question, declaring that if De Valera represents the majority opinion in Ireland, then Ireland is "asking for trouble."

"Whether the Washington conference means peace or ultimately war," Lord Northcliffe declared, addressing the diner given in his honor, "depends greatly on whether it holds secret or open sessions. It is of exceeding importance to the world's welfare that the fullest publicity be given."

"Even the Japanese newspapers fail to agree that it should be continued. The Jiji (a prominent Tokio paper) and others agree with me. I find that interest in the Washington conference overshadows all other subjects in Japan, even the cost of living. Many express fervent hopes that the conference will preserve peace on the Pacific and relieve Japan of her intolerable burden of taxation."

REPORT BOOZE RING CASE DISMISSED

There is an unconfirmed rumor current that at the hearing in Los Angeles Wednesday morning before U. S. Commissioner Long, the cases against Guy Wells, Ernest Thede, "Chuc" Wilson and William Kincy, held to answer charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, were dismissed on account of lack of sufficient evidence to gain a conviction.

Thede recently made an alleged confession of the activities of the gang in Glendale, and in return was promised immunity.

GOOD ATTENDANCE RED CROSS PARLEY

Mrs. C. L. Peckham reports an excellent attendance on the second day of the Red Cross regional conference held in Pasadena, which she attended as chairman of the annual roll call in Glendale. The delegates were entertained at luncheon by the Pasadena chamber of commerce and enjoyed an afternoon program of great interest, Mrs. Peckham being especially impressed with the call for a rally on the part of all the Southern California chapters to aid in the establishment of a recreational center at San Pedro where the men in service in the army and navy can find a home during their hours of leisure. The talks showed that many are being led into evil ways for lack of such an institution to safeguard them.

SHOTGUN PATROL HERE DURING NIGHT

To protect the people in the residence districts, Chief of Police Martin has instituted an automobile patrol. Two officers in a motor car, armed with shotguns, will patrol the streets of the city all night. These officers start patrolling at 7 p. m. and drive up one street and down another all night. This will give added protection to the outlying districts that heretofore had only the protection of the paroiman on the beat.

FIFTY YEARS WEDDED LIFE CELEBRATED

Romance of Iowa Started Over Fifty Years Ago Still Lives

MANY CONGRATULATE

Mr. Hoskyn in Ministry Thirty-five Years Showered With Gifts

One of the beautiful functions of the week which was invested with a sentiment which made it a privilege to participate in, was the golden wedding celebration of Rev. and Mrs. E. Hoskyn at their home, 243 North Jackson street, Wednesday.

It was quite informal and guests came and went throughout the afternoon and evening to tender their congratulations to the honorees, who are active workers in the First Methodist church of this city, and much beloved.

The house had been beautifully decorated in a gold and green color scheme in which smilax and yellow chrysanthemums were lavishly used. A portiere of smilax separated the living room and dining room, where refreshments of punch and four kinds of cake were served. There was no program except that vocal numbers were given in the afternoon by Miss Marian Kelley and in the evening by Miss Fern Fickling.

Every guest was registered and the list numbered 125. It included several ministers and their wives, among whom were Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Crist, pastor of the church, and Rev. and Mrs. Bets of Los Angeles. Besides the greetings personally conveyed, Mr. and Mrs. Hoskyn were the recipients of many cards and letters of congratulations.

They were also showered with gifts, two of outstanding interest being a handsome leather-upholstered rocker bestowed on Mr. Hoskyn by the Sunday school class of which he is the teacher, and a beautiful wicker rocker given to Mrs. Hoskyn by the members of the class to which she belongs. The list of additional gifts included a slumber robe, auto robe, beautiful candlestick and candle, waffle iron, decorated plates, $25 in gold and many small remembrances.

Rev. Hoskyn was active in the ministry of the Methodist church for 35 years and he and his good wife have a host of friends in the many parishes in which they worked during those years. They were married at State Center, Iowa, and have been residents of California for 35 years.

COMPENSATION FOR EX-SERVICE MEN LEGION'S WORK

New Commander is Pledged to Keep After Congress for Aid to War Heroes

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3.—America's "army of peace" had demobilized today after electing Hanford MacNider, Iowa "dark horse" to guide its destinies for another year. The 75,000 ex-service men who put on the country's "biggest party" in Kansas City the last few days, was en route home.

"The Legion has four issues to fight for," MacNider said today. "They are law and order, immediate relief for disabled, Americanism and adjusted compensation—and we are going to fight for them."

JOHN COTTON AIDS STAGING PAGEANT

John Cotton, the artist, of 1137 San Rafael street, has been having a boresome time serving as a juror in the Los Angeles courts but hopes soon to be through. He has been sent for by Garnet Holme, who is staging a desert Indian pageant at Palm Springs, written by Mary Austin. Mr. Cotton was asked to take the role of an Indian chief and should have gone earlier in the week but has been unable to free himself from the jury work until now.

It is called "Indian Fire" and will be given out of doors in the afternoon just as the sun is descending behind San Jacinto mountain. The first performances of what is expected to be an annual event will take place Saturday and Sunday and many spectators from all parts of Southern California are expected.

KIDDIES WIN

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3.—Marshal Foch stayed here rather than disappoint several thousand school children who had been told they might get a chance to see him. He had expected to go to Fort Leavenworth to visit the garrison; then he learned there was a plan to have school children lined upon and along the boulevards that he might wave to them and they to him.

GOING DOWN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A reduction of about $465,000,000 in the public debt during October was announced by the treasury.

SOUTH GLENDALE ACTIVITIES

SOUTH-SIDERS HAD HALLOWEEN PARTY

Old and Young Have Big Time Chasing Spooks at M. E. Social Hall

Hallowe'en was appropriately celebrated by the residents in the southern section of Glendale. The boys were out in force, as they usually are, on the only night in the year given over exclusively to them, but in addition there were lots of others who were out for a good time.

One of the most enjoyable affairs was that given by the Epworth League of the Central Avenue Methodist church in the social hall. The hall was decorated with cornstalks, autumn leaves, etc., the colored lights being subdued to make the atmosphere more weird. This party was attended by 60 people, old and young, who, notwithstanding their spookish appearance, had a fine time. Hallowe'en games were played, and at the close of the evening refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie and coffee were served.

Another pleasing affair was the Hallowe'en party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, 1340 South San Fernando road. Appropriate games and cards were enjoyed during the evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Valet, Mr. and Mrs. George Merrick, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Bacon and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hickey.

The Hallowe'en party given by the Yeoman Lodge for the kiddies of South Glendale was another very enjoyable affair. Nearly 100 little folks turned out to this affair, which proved to be one of the big times of the year. During the evening, games were played and musical features were enjoyed, after which apples and popcorn were served to the little ones.

Mrs. Wilcox entertained the members of her class in the South Glendale Presbyterian Sunday school at her home of Gardena avenue. Everything from decorations to refreshments were along the Hallowe'en line and the party proved very enjoyable to the 12 guests present.

Miss Nancy St. Clair entertained her "girls," who also constitute a class in the same Sunday school. In this class are 15 pupils and the time they had at this affair would be hard to describe in words. These young ladies are looking forward to next Hallowe'en, as a result of this party given by their teacher.

MARINE FIREMAN KILLS SWEETHEART

Find Note Which Indicates Girl Was Slain by her Jealous Lover

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Jealousy was believed to have cost the lives of Carl A. Allen, a marine fireman, and Hulda Malmstrom, early today. Allen's dead body was found lying across the unconscious form of Miss Malmstrom in an apartment in the Mission district. Gunshot wounds and a revolver told the story. Miss Malmstrom died en route to a hospital.

Police, after an investigation, were convinced, they said, that Allen had shot the woman and then committed suicide.

A note was found in the apartment, signed with Allen's name, saying:

"My Dear Hulda—Your actions in the past few days have hurt me very much. I cannot stand it any longer but I still love you as much as ever. You have shattered all my hopes for the future so I bid everybody and the world goodby."

EDWARDS-WILDEY PUT ON NEW TRACT

The Edwards & Wildey Company has added another subdivision to its string of six which it has successfully handled in the past two years, and now offers a higher grade proposition than has been put on the market before in Glendale. The lots are higher in price, but they are located in a more exclusive residence section and carry good restrictions so as to preserve a uniformity in the building which will suit the plans of the most particular people.

It is only a small tract of 20 lots located on Randolph and Stocker streets, two blocks east of Brand, so it is expected that the lots will be on the market for only a few days. Messrs. Hayward, McCarney, and McMullin are urging their friends to make the first reservations in this attractive plot.

Town Topics

Ninety-eight—The big pumpkin in the window of the Cornwell & Kelty hardware store and which was the subject of many guesses, weighed 98 pounds 12 ounces, according to the Fairbanks-Morse. The contest came to a close Saturday night and the winners were declared to be as follows: Adults' prize, W. R. Ungehener; boys' prize, Ralph Eckles, and girls' prize, Genevieve Luc.

Dr. Russell Speaks—Dr. Jessie Russell will speak on "Legislation for Women" Friday afternoon at the meeting of the W. C. T. U., which will be held at the home of Mrs. Guy Morton, 412 North Isabel, to which everybody is invited.

School Float—A beautiful float for the Armistice Day parade is being planned for Intermediate school, and the grammar schools of the city have combined for a float to represent them. In the marching columns the Girl Scouts and the two organizations of Campfire Girls will be entered, as will also the Boy Scouts.

Society Meet—The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Central Avenue Methodist church will meet Friday afternoon, 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. M. M. Shont, 3522 Perlita avenue. There will be a program of special music and an address by a returned missionary. All ladies are cordially invited.

Buy Lots.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marple have purchased an acre of ground in the Learned tract, just northwest of Glendale city. They expect to cut the property into lots and to construct a home on one of the pieces just as soon as arrangements can be made to do so.

Warren Better.—Mr. Warren, of the realty firm of Ellis & Warren, 300 South Brand, is rapidly recovering from a severe attack of the grippe and lumbago. He is back again at his office, carrying with him the ever-present smile.

Farewell.—A farewell reception is being given tonight for Dr. and Mrs. Thayer on the eve of their departure for Del Rosa near San Bernardino, the pastorate to which Dr. Thayer, who has officiated at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church for the past two years, has been assigned. It will take place at the home of Mrs. R. D. Jones at 322 East Dryden.

Moves Office.—Dr. Harry V. Brown announces that he is moving his office from the Baker-Detwiler building in Los Angeles to 118 West Wilson street. He gives as the reason for this change that by moving to Glendale, nearer his home, he can give more time to his patients.

Grizzly Reunion.—Men of the 144th field artillery will confer a favor on the committee in charge by forwarding their names and addresses to Dr. W. H. Daniel, 704 Pacific Mutual building. The re-union is planned for December 10, 1921. Further particulars will be sent out in the near future.

News matter and advertising intended for the South Glendale page may be left at DAVE'S BARBER SHOP, adjoining the drug store. It is earnestly requested that the people of the south end use this page every day in chronicling their news.

PERSONALS—BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lovell entertained last Sunday for their son Dean, who passed his seventh birthday. An excellent dinner was served.

Mr. Black, the genial druggist, occasionally assists the "traffic cop," on the corner, and shows 'em he knows how to make 'em head in.

A. J. Thielen of Thielen & Yaeger, who has been very sick at his home at Eagle Rock, is a little better, and some hope is entertained for his recovery.

B. V. Brasher, proprietor of the new variety store, was transacting business in Los Angeles yesterday.

Mr. Yaeger, of Thielen & Yaeger sheet metal works, reports business humming, and states they have been unable to take care of the work offered them. Building operations in South Glendale are on the increase right along.

Charles Van Horn is putting up a one-story brick building on San Fernando road for G. H. McLain. It will be ready for occupancy in about 30 days.

TEAM OF HORSES ARE THOUGHT REASON FOR TRAGEDY

"Pete" Beebe is Believed to Have Slain Employer to Get Wage Due

ALBANY, Ore., Nov. 3.—A grown man, half blind, with a mind 20 years younger in growth and development than his body, killing his employers to obtain possession of a span of sleek gray horses, was the picture District Attorney L. G. Lewelling today prepared to draw in charging Carson D. "Pete" Beebe with the murder of John and William Painter, farmers for whom the alleged murderer worked.

Lewelling will attempt to show that Beebe, beside himself, either become peeved because the Painters had failed to pay him the wages due him and had also refused to allow him to take the span of horses as security, or had refused to allow him to work the horses, to which he had become attached, slew both Painters in a childish raid.

The horses were found at the home of Carson C. Beebe, father of the accused man.

"That's the way it goes. A man works hard to buy property and then they take it away from him," said Beebe, bursting into tears when he learned the officers had secured the horses. The revolver which officers believe was used in the shooting was found in the farm granary yesterday. Beebe admitted having owned the weapon at one time.

He said the elder Painter, just after he had shot his son, William, and shortly preceding his own suicide, told him to place the rifle in the farm cabin and the revolver in the granary. Beebe continued to adhere today to the "suicide" story he told when first arrested.

PEGGY JOYCE WILL KEEP ALL PRESENTS

Report Agrees to Allow Husband to Annul if She Gets All Presents

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former Follies beauty, and her millionaire lumberman husband, today were near agreement for settement of their marital and financial difficulties out of court. Reports in some quarters were that an agreement had been reached allowing Peggy to retain the $1,398,316.32 worth of gifts which Joyce gave her from August 1, 1919, to the time of their separation.

Weymouth Kirkland, attorney for Mr. Joyce, intimated the negotiations were near a conclusion, but refused to confirm the report that an agreement had been reached. In return for allowing her to keep the expensive gifts, Peggy is understood to have agreed to permit Joyce's suit for annulment of the marriage, which will come up for hearing before Judge Sabath on Tuesday.

The hearing, according to the agreement, will be only perfunctory and an annulment will be entered by the court. Peggy will not have to appear.

At present Joyce is paying Peggy $1,350 a month temporary alimony and has given her $40,000 attorneys' fees.

Rumors connect Peggy's name with that of Peter C. Merillon, wealthy son of a Paris banker, in case her marriage with Joyce is annulled.

HALL BROS. BOOST STRONG FOR SECTION

Hall Brothers, the enterprising and reliable garage men of 1416 San Fernando road, are rapidly gaining the reputation of being boosters for South Glendale, and so far as business is concerned they have about all they can do. The firm is composed of H. F. and J. N. Hall, two live wires and expert mechanics, who can be depended upon to give the public the best service and a square deal. They have equipment sufficient to handle any kind of automobile or machine work.

Bike Taken.—L. V. S. Fender reported to the police that his bicycle was stolen Tuesday afternoon from in front of the Glendale Academy.

GATEWAY TRACT IS BEING SUBDIVIDED

Ninety Lots From $800 to $2650 Are Expected to be Sold Rapidly

One of the most recent subdivisions to be placed on the market is the Broadway Gateway tract, which lies on the eastern side of San Fernando road and is bounded on the north by California street and on the south by West Broadway. Two streets are being cut through the tract, these being a continuation of Salem and Wilson streets westward from their present western terminus all the way to San Fernando road.

In this tract there are about 90 lots, ranging in price from $800 to $2650. Although this tract has been on the market but a few days, quite a number of them have already been disposed of. With the exception of the property facing on San Fernando road and Broadway, the prices that are being asked for these lots include street work, sidewalks and curbing. When the proposed improvements have been completed this tract will have water, electricity, gas, telephone and will, in fact, be strictly modern city property.

Broadway forms the main artery of traffic into Glendale from San Fernando road and other points lying north and west of Glendale. Judging from the way property in the western part of the city has been selling during the past year and a half, it would seem that this tract will be one of the fastest-selling pieces of property placed before the public for some time. The property buyers evidently seem to appreciate the many attractive points of this tract.

NEW PHARMACY IS ENJOYING GROWTH

The Broadway Pharmacy, recently opened at East Broadway and Kenwood street, has adopted as its policy "Courtesy and Promptness." Mr. Whittaker, proprietor of the establishment, has been a resident of Glendale for the past six years and understands every detail of the drug business. He first started in business in Worcester, Mass., in 1887, and has followed the drug business ever since, the last 17 years having been spent in Southern California. Most of Mr. Whittaker's experience has been in the perscription departments of big stores such as the Owl Drug Co., Bowman & Co., of Oakland and Berkeley, and the Farley Drug Co. of Berkeley. During the past six years Mr. Whittaker has represented one of the largest drug and pharmaceutical houses in the United States, covering Southern California and the state of Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker are associated in this drug business. They are making a strong appeal to the people of Glendale for a share of their patronage. Each patron of this store is assured prompt and courteous treatment.

VAUDEVILLE BILL AT T. D. & L. THEATRE

Tomorrow Glendale will have an opportunity of seeing one of the most entertaining vaudeville bills ever assembled by Meiklejohn and Dunn. "Songs, Bumps and Smiles," the headline act which Wilbur and Lyke are presenting, is a feature. This act has played in some of the largest theaters in the country.

The Winter Garden Duo offer a variety of entertainment and their act consists of a "little bit of everything." This pair features their "stair-case dance," and they have just completed a tour of the United States on the Orpheum and Pantages circuits.

Winsome Ethel Clayton has a photoplay that is quite different from those in which she has been appearing. "Beyond" has for its theme one of the most unusual subjects ever presented on the screen and Miss Clayton's admirers are sure to like her in this picture.

CALL UPON CLUB TO TURN IN COUPONS

The Tuesday Afternoon Club is calling upon all members who have purchased tickets in the queen contest and who desire to vote for the club's candidate, Mrs. Warren Roberts, to turn their coupons in to Mrs. A. H. Williams, 208 South Orange street, or Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, who has charge of Mrs. Roberts' campaign, at 415 South Central avenue. The ladies are anxious to have all outstanding coupons reach them before Saturday that they may check up returns and know the standing of their candidate.

HAYHURST DENIES CITY PAPER STORY

Declares Glendale High Wants to Play S. Pasadena Eleven Again

A Los Angeles morning daily published in its issue of Wednesday morning a story concerning the Central Athletic League, of which Glendale union high school is a member, and stated in the article that Glendale had attempted to claim by forfeit a victory over the high school team of South Pasadena. The article stated that the forfeiture was claimed by Glendale because South Pasadena had played a man on the team who was ineligible.

According to Coach Hayhurst of Glendale high school, secretary of the Central League, this statement is not true. South Pasadena did play a man who was ineligible at the time and by rights the game could be claimed by forfeiture, but Glendale demanded that instead of South Pasadena forfeiting the game, that no record be made of it and the two schools be allowed to play again.

Coach Hayhurst said:

"Glendale does not want to win the game with South Pasadena or any other school by forfeiture. What we do want is to have the game declared unofficial and play another official game with the school. The only argument so far experienced is the arranging of a date to play the game. South Pasadena wants to play Glendale one day this week and I will not allow my team to play South Pasadena until some date after Armistice Day, as we have several hard games scheduled before that date and I want my men in the best possible condition."

The Central Athletic League held a meeting last night to determine what action should be taken in regard to the alleged false report of conditions in the league and to decide on a date for the Glendale-South Pasadena game, as well as several other matters of importance.

DUCK HUNTERS ARE GIVEN WARNING

Duck hunters are warned not to hunt at the Palmdale reservoir as it has been closed to hunters. Any one caught there will be prosecuted and liable to be fined $25. A marshal will be on duty and will have orders to arrest hunters caught on the reservoir grounds. Several have been arrested there and a warning is issued to prevent further arrests. The reason for prohibiting hunting is the fact that the water is used for drinking purposes and it is against the law to hunt on water that is to be so used.

OLD-TIMERS WERE KEEN FOR ACTION

Minutes of Society of 1886 Show Men Were Stickers for Good Roads

At the meeting of the Glendale Improvement Society held on the night of November 1, 1886, it was reported that practically all parties concerned were agreed to establishing a road between the Ayres and Wolf properties and extending to the river. The Glendale Improvement Society is still in existence and is now known as the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association.

Following is a copy of the minutes of the meeting of the society for November 1, 1886:

"No meeting on October 18. Well attended meeting tonight Meeting corrected minutes of previous meeting In the absence of Mr Riley, one of the road committee, Mr Birch reported for him that interested parties had been (except the heirs of Hobbs estate and Mr Hegl) seen, and were willing that road should go through Mr Sherer made similar report as to Mr Hollenbeck and himself in regards to property between their property

"Mr Clippinger to committee in charge of changing name of postoffice presented report consisting of petition ready for signatures, as suggestion or two as to additional reasons to be embodied in petition, were adopted. At Mr. Clippinger's request an addition was made to this committee. The chairman appointed Mr. Ayres. Reports of committee appointed to confer with Los Angeles capitalists called for but committee not ready to report. Messrs. Mayo and Bullis appointed a committee to confer with councilmen in regard to road. Adjourned.

STUDENTS TO LOOK OVER BATTLESHIP

Prof. William J. Masak of Burchett street, instructor in mechanical engineering at the University of California, Southern Branch, will take a group of 50 students on a tour of inspection of the U. S. dreadnaught New Mexico, at San Pedro, Friday. They are going on the invitation of Rear Admiral B. F. Hutchinson, chief of staff. The party will include two Glendale boys—Loys Griswold and Ralph Hutchinson. The New Mexico is the largest and latest type of electrically propelled dreadnaught and the trip will be of the greatest interest to the class. Prof. Masak has been a resident of Glendale for four years and is as enthusiastic about the beauties and advantages of his home city as are most Glendalians.

Truths in Epigram

Memory, no less than hope, owes its charm to "the far away." — Edward Bulwer Lytton (1805-1873).

Oft hath even a whole city reaped the evil fruit of a bad man. — Hesiod (About 720 B. C.).

The tall, the wise, the reverend head must lie as low as ours.—Isaac Watts (1674-1748).

THE TOURNAMENT STADIUM

By January, 1923, Pasadena will have a great stadium in which the games of the Tournament of Roses will be played. The structure will contain 65,000 permanent seats, and be so arranged as to accommodate about 15,000 more.

This matter is of direct interest to every city and community of southern California. The Tournament is no longer an event local to Pasadena. Its appeal is even more than state-wide. In many respects it has become a national affair. It is attended by visitors from all over the country. It is reported at length in papers from one coast to the other.

Interesting as the Tournament is as a spectacle of floral splendor, its national character has been taken on through the games that have become a regular feature. There are to be seen yearly the finest football contest that it is possible to produce. It is a clash between the star teams of the country.

The plan for financing the erection of the stadium was so well conceived that it is working admirably. One may buy a seat for a period of five years or of ten years. The ownership of such a seat enables the holder to witness every performance of whatever kind given in the stadium. The first class of seats sell at $55, which includes a $5 war tax, and the second at $110, the $10 being war tax. They may be paid for in four installments, the first installment larger than the others by the amount of the tax.

Pasadena never has been able to find space for all who desired to see the games. After the next Tournament this trouble will be over. Meantime subscribers to seats are being handed coupons entitling them to seats next January, when as always has been the case, there will be a larger demand than can be met.

IN CASE OF FAILURE

"If this conference fails then you are going to have a propaganda for the biggest army and the biggest navy in the world."

Such is the view of William Jennings Bryan. In expressing it, he gave the views of many people who ordinarily do not find themselves in harmony with the Bryan opinion.

Perhaps he goes too far in including the "biggest army." If the world is to continue fully equipped for war, the part of the United States will be that of self defense. Not planning any aggression the demand for a large army would not become manifest. There would be necessity to be prepared to repel invaders. For this purpose, the navies, sea and air, might be deemed suited. Almost certainly there would be demand for improving and enlarging them.

That is to say, a nation that desires to be at peace with all the world would have to carry indefinitely the financial burdens imposed by war.

"We must build," continues Bryan, "on the doctrine of love, co-operation and friendship." Here again he will receive the support of common sentiment. But there are grave difficulties in the way.

Japan is understood to have renewed overtures on behalf of racial equality. Racial equality, in the fullest sense, is not possible. Before the law all men should stand equal. When they are endowed with conflicting instincts; when they have inherent and eradicably differing conceptions of right and wrong, of honor, of family and national obligations, no utterance of any gathering could make them racially equal. One might not be inferior to the other, but, conceding that they stand on the same intellectual plane, between them has been established by nature a line of demarcation that may not be crossed.

To cross this line could not be desirable. President Harding in addressing the people of the south touching the negro question, delicately but clearly gave an exposition of this truth. To forbid the crossing of the line would not be a hardship to those on either side; rather it would be beneficial to both.

But if Japan, in addition, demands the right to seize China and to expand by conquest, so as to become the dominating force in all the Orient, and the guardian of the Pacific, the difficulties the conference must face will be greatly accentuated.

To meet the emergency calls for the spirit advocated by Bryan. That spirit would be the most effective equation on the side of world peace. Whether it could overcome the influences against which it must contend remains a grave and disquieting problem.

THE SOLDIER BONUS

Senator Reed has awakened his colleagues from any dream they may have had that the soldier bonus bill had gone back into committee to repose indefinitely. Whatever they may do with the measure, the thought that they are to have the chance to sidestep it is banished by the Reed amendment.

It will be recalled that the measure went back to committee at the direct suggestion of President Harding. He addressed the senate in order that there should be no misunderstanding as to his views.

While in some quarters the presidential attitude was warmly approved, a small part of such approval came from ex-service men. They felt that the promises made to them when they started overseas had not been kept. They pointed to the fact that even Canada, its losses far greater than those of the United States, its resources far less, had taken care of its returned soldiers on a scale of comparative munificence.

Senator Reed is a democrat, and it is natural to suppose him not unwilling to put the administration "in a hole." However, the citations made in support of his amendment are awkward things to meet.

"I am going to tell them (ex-soldiers), he said, "that the reason they could not have the adjusted compensation was that it was proposed to tax the tax off the profiteers . . . the men who stayed home while they went abroad to lose their health, to lose their jobs, and some of their brothers to lose their lives."

The senate is having a hard time with the tax question, due to the fact that a tax is quite likely to be objectionable to the man who has to pay it. The republicans are experiencing difficulty in carrying out the administration program. Where they have been successful it has been by narrow margin. And now comes Reed detracting still further from their modicum of gladness.

The Santa Barbara News and Independent has appeared in eight-column form, every page giving evidence of the quality often described as pep. Confidence and prosperity seem to characterize the entire issue.

There is much fuss made about the insidious efforts of the British to "grab our oil." If this country produces oil and has not business acumen enough to keep it from being grabbed, there really is nothing to do except to wish Americans would wake up.

A curious sort of man makes complaint that he was induced to buy a machine for the manufacture of paper money. The method was to insert a $1 bill, turn a crank, and watch the paper emerge as a bill of much higher denomination. Such a man gains nothing by exposing his stupidity. His real quarrel is with Providence that neglected to provide him with brains.

Now they are linking the name of Roy Gardner with the theft of a yacht. It is beginning to be believed that Tom, the piper's son, who stole a pig and ran away, an episode immortalized in verse, was nobody but Gardner.

A peculiar writer states that Debs is in prison for the practice of Christianity. This is not the ordinary belief. He went to jail because in the time of his country's distress his course was of a sort to give aid and comfort to the enemy. However, there is no venomous condemnation of the prisoner now. He is felt to be misguided and mistaken, but kind of heart and honest of purpose.

One of the most desperate burglars captured lately is eighteen years old. If precedents are followed he will be sent to the juvenile court, and then released on parole. Surely students of criminology ought to be able to devise a better way.

It is not surprising that facsimile handwriting is now sent across the sea by radio, but this is because the generation has become quite accustomed to miracles. Only a few years ago such a feat not only would have been deemed impossible, but was of course unthinkable, the instrumentality by which it is accomplished not being in human knowledge, or the limitations of human dream.

NEW WINE IN OLD BOTTLES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The trouble with the world is that it is trying to keep its new wine in old bottles. And this, by the way, has always been the trouble with the world.

It is this which causes the pangs of growth. For it is usually a painful process for the new to get rid of the old.

Specifically, the new idea in the world is democracy, and it is trying to contain this new spirit in the political forms bequeathed by monarchy.

A better way to express this truth, perhaps, is that the new idea is Humanity; that is, the conception of mankind as a whole. And this idea is struggling to get itself born in the minds of people long trained in nationalism.

Every fresh new impulse of progress is international. None is national. That is, every great movement for human betterment is conceived in the terms of the world and not of the state.

When the present states were born they were a distinct advance over the conditions of barbarism that preceded them and they had to fight fiercely to get rid of that barbarism.

But the hour has struck for the passing of the nations.

They are no longer needed and they present today the most considerable opposing force to human progress.

When some one asked Anatole France to write a little sentiment on the fly-leaf of one of his books, the author inscribed the following sentence: "On ne cessera la guerre dans la planete que lors qu'il n'y aura plus detats" (wars will not cease upon the planet until there are no more states.)

Mr. H. G. Wells is doing heroic work to bring this idea home to the English mind. The triumph of the idea is all the more probable because it is nothing more than carrying to its logical conclusion the programme of Jesus Christ. His teachings have been the meat and drink of the western world for centuries and the very core of them is that all men are brothers.

Paul carried forward His teachings, declaring "there is no difference."

The eventual fruit of this sort of fundamental belief is the end of nationalities.

No intelligent person needs to have it proved to him that it is nationalities that cause wars and the statement of Anatole France is axiomatic.

But we are now beginning to see also that it is nationalities that are bankrupting the world. It is they who are causing the fluctuations in exchange which are ruining commerce.

It is they that, by their artificial barriers and passionate selfishness, are causing famine in one country that there may be plenty in another.

There was no patriotism in the teaching of Jesus.

There is no patriotism in the great elemental forces of nature and of society.

For there is no nationalism in commerce, in art, in science, in religion, in disease, nor in death.

And if humanity is to adjust itself to these vast forces, to work with those that help and to work against those that threaten its existence, it must learn to co-operate.

Like every other plan of destiny, World Unity not only has its reward but its penalties.

THE LISTENING POST

The Old Home Town.
You know it and the charm it has and had.
How you learned its every byway.
In the days you were a lad.
You knew all its nooks and corners.
And you roamed them up and down.
And wherever you have traveled.
You recalled the Old Home Town.

* * *

You remember that old sand lot.
Where the village boys would play.
How they builded caves and castles,
In a quite fantastic way.
How they dreamed of savage Red men.
And of pirates on the sea.
And they searched for buried treasure.
In the caves of piracy.

* * *

Then the brook where boys would gather.
In the days of early June.
With their fish lines and their bait cans.
And their many a whistled tune.
And the school bell far off yonder.
Smote their consciences with fear.
And they whistled then the louder.
And made pretense of good cheer.

* * *

The Old Home Town.
None like it, in your travels to and fro.
With its lanes and trees and shadows.
Dawn and noon and twilight glow.
For it seems the trees were taller.
And it seems the grass was green.
With a lush and cool luxuriance.
That you nowhere else have seen.

* * *

You remember all the changes.
That the years of time have spanned.
How the tall brick building rose there.
Where the town pump used to stand.
How you used to stand, a schoolboy.
In the smithy's open door.
See the red hot horse shoe lifted
Where the bellows used to roar.

* * *

Even now you hear the clanging.
Of the hammer on the steel.
And you see the red sparks flying.
And within your heart you feel.
Something of the schoolboy gladness.
That you felt when just a boy.
At the world so big and splendid.
And so brimming full of joy.

* * *

And the boys and girls who lived there.
And the grown up people, too.
Somehow they seemed to be kinder.
Than most other people do.
They had smiles that shone the warmer.
And their friendship fast and true.
Never saw you flowers rarer.
Never saw you skies as blue.

How in Spring the blossoms showered.
Every bush and shrub and tree.
And the whole earth flamed with beauty.
And a Springtime ecstasy.
When the robins were returning.
Welcome harbingers of cheer.
And the meadow larks were singing.
And the brooks all bubbled clear.

* * *

And the day came when the calling.
Of the world fell and you heard.
And you said good by to home folks.
To the lane and brook and bird.
When the schoolboy days were ended.
Then a kiss and hug and prayer.
And you set forth on the highway.
To find life's new fortunes there.

* * *

And you struggled and you suffered.
And you knew the world of men.
And how often in the twilight.
Would you dream it all again.
Dream the ways of simple boyhood.
Dream the brooks and birds and bees.
Dreams the ways of barefoot youngsters.
Over there among the trees.

* * *

Dream the orchards and the meadows.
And the quaint, old-fashioned place.
Where the roses climbed the trellis.
And the smile on Mother's face.
When she waved you that last farewell.
And then slowly went inside.
With an aching heart and sobbing.
And she bent her head and cried.

* * *

The Old Home Town.
How I love it. And the old home folks I knew.
And the old home smiles and faces.
I love them and so do you.
And however far I travel.
And how far I go and where.
There are times my heart's returning.
To the dear old places there.

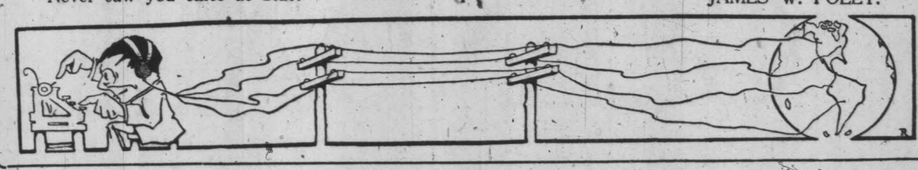
* * *

And if I have found no fortune.
There's no fortune I can find.
That is better and is sweeter
Than the one I've left behind.
That exists in homely friendship.
In the hearts of simple folk.
That are tender as the flowers.
That are sturdy as the oak.

* * * *

And if fortune else should fail me.
If the fickle jade should frown.
I have riches in the memory.
Of that blessed Old Home Town.
In the smiles there that await me.
In the friendships that are true.
The Old Home Town—I dream of it
And love it—so do you!

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

Nightingales—By Robert Bridges (1844)

Beautiful must be the mountains whence you come,
And bright in the fruitful valleys the streams, wherefrom
Ye learn your song:
Where are those starry woods? O might I wander there,
Among the flowers, which in that heavenly air
Bloom the year long!

Nay, barren are those mountains and spent the streams:
Our song is the voice of desire, that haunts our dreams,
A throe of the heart,
Whose pining visions dim, forbidden hopes profound,
No dying cadence nor long sigh can sound,
For all our art.

Alone, aloud in the raptured ear of men
We pour our dark nocturnal secret; and then
As night is withdrawn
From these sweet-springing meads and bursting boughs of May,
Dream, while the innumerable choir of day
Welcome the dawn.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHAT HARVEY MUST ENDURE

[Springfield Republican]

Professor John Bassett Moore will accept the high and honorable post of judge of the international court founded by the League of Nations notwithstanding that his own country refuses to become a member of the league. Ambassador Harvey must endure the excruciating spectacle in silence. "We are out to kill the league," the ambassador is reported to have said, but the league has not been killed soon enough to prevent the establishment, under its auspices and in accordance with its covenant, of this world court of international justice.

Inasmuch as Elihu Root had a large influence in shaping the constitution of the new court, what hope is there that a better initiative of the Harding administration? If the Harding association of nations comes into being, it may at least pause in its work of destruction among established institutions of an international character in order to salvage the court with which Mr. Root's name is necessarily identified.

Something of permanent value, then, may have already come out of the League of Nations. The league has lived long enough to have a child and the child is fully capable of outliving its parent. Ideals are indestructible.

THE WATCH ON THE RHINE

[New York Tribune]

Senator Lodge's intimation that the American troops would soon be withdrawn from the Rhine has excited unfavorable comment in France.

It is still too early to believe in Germany's good faith. So long as the reparation payments remain doubtful and America is committed to the clauses of the treaty in which Germany binds herself to make these payments it is desirable that American troops remain with the allied troops as a constant reminder to Germany that America stands with the allies in this matter. Their early removal would be mistakenly interpreted by the Germans as an abandonment by America of any support of these clauses. The result could only be unfortunate and encourage those elements in Germany which seek to nullify the penalties of the war.

Mr. Borah opposes the treaty with Germany "because of the principle of force which runs through it." Except for this principle it would have died a violent death two years ago. And if this principle is weakened the Germans will soon refuse to meet their obligations.

Two things stand out plainly: Germany must be made to pay the penalty of the war, and Germany respects only force. To encourage Germany to resist the treaty is to nullify the victory won at the cost of millions of lives.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA M. STEWART

"I just know I wouldn't like her, she has such a peculiar mouth." It was an otherwise intelligent woman speaking, never dreaming how her speech was showing her narrowness of vision. Prejudice is such a dangerous vice. It creeps on one so insidiously. Its possessor generally is so unconscious of its presence.

Prejudice is one of the gravest symptoms of contracted mentality and narrow vision. Yet it's very common. Heredity, environment and training all help to saddle us with its heavy load. Fortunate are we if we break away.

Prejudice always consorts with ignorance. Actual knowledge will dispel much. That is, it will if coupled with fairness of mind. It seems strange that religion should be one of the snuggest harbors for such a vice, but isn't it Just where we might be expected to call charity and slowness of judgment to our aid we don't. Somehow we forget that there may be perfectly honest differences of outlook, and that more than one road may lead to the same place.

More than ever we need to fight this common vice as we grow in years. Our minds do not need to atrophy as our muscles stiffen. Let's learn to look at both sides of a question. If there's a third side, and there sometimes is, let's look at that also.

We shall get much more out of life if we do.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

Sunday evening on Vermont avenue in Los Angeles, a street car crashed into an automobile. The accident occurred as a throng of machines going in the same direction as the car, had been stopped by the jam at an intersection.

So closely were the autos packed that for a moving street car to hit one, and not hit more than one, was impossible. There was a jar, a shattering of glass and then lighter jars as the machine just ahead was folded accordian shape against the mass in front of it.

Women screamed. Some of them fainted, while others not finding suitable arms into which to faint, braced up, walking out over broken glass to step into puddles of gasoline. Then everybody stood around to view the wreckage. Three machines were numbered with the slain, mechanically considered. The one that had been worst hit resembled a pile of junk just accidentally dumped there. The scared and trembling occupants crawled forth apparently unharmed bodily, but mentally perturbed, except as to one who was badly cut about the head, but kept calm as a May morning. Soon came the clanging ambulances. Altogether it was siderable of a mess.

One of the interested spectators, a passenger of the butting car, took up the papers of the next morning to see what they said about the accident. They hadn't said a thing. The incident had not been deemed worth mentioning. Perhaps if a match had been dropped in the gutters while they ran gasoline, the attention of the reporter might have been aroused.

In protecting his own house a citizen of Los Angeles was obliged to shoot and kill a burglar. In the present crude state of civilization there seems no wiser disposition of a burglar than the householder made. However, the performance of the task, however useful, is not pleasing to a person of pacific disposition and natural aversion to violence. He would would be better satisfied were circumstances so framed as to discourage the burglarious career at some earlier stage.

Tests of the blood to decide the question of kinship have not yet impressed the minds of scientists as indicating more than the prevalence of a fad. One jurist in San Francisco did accept it, and in accordance declared a certain man to be father of a child, the paternity of which had been disputed. However, it is probable that there was an abundance of corroborative evidence of a very material sort.

A hotel guest recently tossed a handful of paper money lightly into the lobby. Later he repeated the operation from his window, apparently deriving great gladness from watching people scramble for the bills.

Such a guest is not frequent in hotels. They often are to be observed in retreats for the mentally afflicted.

There still are curious and perhaps critical glances at a woman who wears knickerbockers. This is not the case when she is equipped for hiking. Then the knickers are taken quite for granted. Probably the time is not distant when this becoming costume will be worn so commonly as to attract no attention other than that which would be attracted by the wearer whatever her garb. There is no reason to deplore the impending change.

Women have become accustomed to the freedom of short skirts. Fashion declares that they must lose a part of this enjoyable freedom. Some of them at least do not intend to submit to the impertinent decree.

Knickerbockers have the advantage of encouraging women to walk, a very healthful and much neglected form of exercise. If a woman is too fat or too lean to look her best while clad in them, then she will be incited to correct the blemish. Therefore the knickerbockers, in addition to comeliness and convenience, may become actual agencies for the encouragement of sound bodies.

While there have been various reports concerning the health of Ex-President Wilson, most of them have seemed to lack authenticity. The fact that Mr. Wilson declined to grant an audience to Marshal Foch is more significant than many rumors.

Do You Know That—

The inner bark of the lacebark tree, growing in the West Indies, separates after maceration in water into layers resembling coarse lace. Frills and ruffles made of it were sent from Jamaica as a present to Charles II. The bark is used in making ropes and whips.

READING CIRCLE MET AT LIBRARY

The regular meeting of the reading circle was held Wednesday at the public library, Mrs. A. A. Barton presiding. Mrs. C. L. Peckham spoke on behalf of the Red Cross drive, asking for 12 volunteers to help cover the territory. Mrs. C. M. Taylor reviewed an article entitled "Woman and War." In this article John W. Weeks, secretary of war says: "It is the duty of women to be so well informed of their country's past and its present affairs that they may know instinctively whether an impending war would be just or not," and he thinks women will surely prevent the United States entering any war which is not either for "the protection of their nation of the promotion of human welfare."

After lunch, Mrs. H. B. Henry continued reading "All the Children of All the People." The chapter which was read was entitled "Sympathetic Vibration." The author tells us that "the end and aim of education is not to free the individual from the necessity of labor, but to fit him to do to perfection the work in this world he undertakes to perform. There is no one study or set of studies that wil produce uniformly good results in all cases for all people. Any study is of educational value that the scholar really loves."

GLENDALE LADIES AT CLUB MEETING

Glendale was represented at the monthly meeting of the Federation of Music Clubs Wednesday by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, one of the state officers; by Mrs. C. L. Peckham, delegate from the Madrigal club, and by Miss Veda Knapp, president of the Junior Auxiliary of the Glendale Music club.

One of the principal speakers was Gertrude Ross, the composer, and pianiste, recently returned from New York where she was the recipient of much attention and where she responded to the request of the Ampico Company to make some records of her own compositions. On her way back to California she visited her home city, Chattanooga, and gave a talk before 2000 students in the high school from which she was graduated. The school has no music department and the students who heard her were much astonished at the accounts she was able to give of the wonderful things that are being done along musical lines in the high schools of this state. An address was also made by Mrs. William Mabee, chairman of the department of church music in the federation.

MRS. CAMPBELL WAS HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Daniel Campbell on North Glendale entertained at a 3-course luncheon Wednesday at her beautiful home, Ard Eeven, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Lewis of Burbank aand Mrs. Mary Pollock of Glendale, the 1919 matron's association of the Eastern Star. Three tables were spread out of doors under big pepper trees and covers were laid for 32.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler of Los Angeles, past grand matron, was guest of honor. The present grand matron, Mrs. Maud Bradley, had expected to be present but was unavoidably prevented.

After a short business session at which plans were discussed for Christmas work for poor children, and Mrs. Campbell read a letter of greeting from Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall of Sacramento who was the grand matron in 1918, a social afternoon was enjoyed in which bunko was played.

The association holds monthly meetings and Mrs. Campbell by reason of having been grand chaplain in 1919, is an honorary member.

The husband of the hostess, Daniel Campbell, and Mr. Collins, husband of one of the Los Angeles past matrons, were also guests at the luncheon.

MRS. WOODS WAS HOSTESS AT DANCE

Mrh. Namo Woods, 122 West Milford street, entertained the pupils of her Wednesday evening dancing class Wednesday night.

Twenty-one were present, and dancing, social intercourse and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

MRS. EVA DANIELS HOSTESS TO SECTION

The Parliamentary Law section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Eva Daniels on West Colorado street. The greater part of the session was devoted to the rehearsal of a play which the section is to give before the club December 20, and which was written by Miss Daniels. Members entered into the rehearsal with great enthusiasm and at its conclusion, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

MRS. MORGAN FIFE ENTERTAINS MOTHERS

Mrs. J. Morgan Fife entertained the mothers of B-8 2's of the Intermediate school at her home, 517 North Jackson street, Wednesday afternoon. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. A. E. Eschelberger and Mrs. Herbert H. Jepsen. Mrs. W. A. Kulp, president of the Intermediate P.-T. A., and Miss Carol Duncan, teacher of the B-8 2 class, were honor guests. Fruit punch and wafers were served during the afternoon.

WEDNESDAY CLUB PLANS FOR BAZAAR

Ladies of the Wednesday Afternoon Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Charles Glover, 414 Myrtle, for a cafeteria luncheon and social afternoon over their needlework.

Plans were made for work in connection with the bazaar to be put on by the Tuesday Afternoon Club, of which most of the club are members.

GIRL SCOUTS PLAN FOR NEXT WEEK

Girl Scouts of Glendale met for a brief business session Tuesday afternoon and made plans for a big meeting next week, Wednesday, at which ceremonies in connection with investiture will take place.

A meeting of the Oriole Scout Patrol of which Miss Evelyn Traver is the leader, has been called for Saturday at the home of Miss Gladys Sharpe, director of Girl Scouts.

CIVICS CLUB MET TO PLAN BIG PARTY

At a business session of the Women's Civics Club of Glendale, held Wednesday afternoon at the branch library building, plans were made for the chicken dinner and card party to be given by the club November 16 at the Knights of Pythias hall, the proceeds of which will be used to defray program expenses.

The project of a municipal Christmas tree on the campus of the Cerritos or the Magnolia school grounds was also discussed. About 20 members were present, Mrs. E. V. Bacon presiding.

The next regular program meeting of the club will be held November 17 at the studio of Mrs. Hartzell on Laurel and Brand.

MRS. ANGELICA IS WEDNESDAY HOSTESS

Mrs. R. D. Angelica of 712 North Maryland entertained Wednesday at a delightful two-course luncheon and bridge party. The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white chrysanthemums and ferns.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Ernest Schute, Mrs. Charles Meadows, Mrs. Fred Freeland, Mrs. E. A. Augustine, Mrs. Mane Borders, Mrs. Gene Kruse, Mrs. Charles Clifford and the hostess, Mrs. R. D. Angelica.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent playing bridge.

UNION LABEL LEAGUE SURPRISES

It pays to attend the meetings as the entertainment committee of the Women's Union Label league are just starting their surprises. The social Hallowe'en party was a huge success and enjoyed by a large crowd.

The winners of the guessing contest on the weight of the pumpkin were Misses Blanchard and Black and they soon disposed of the home-made pumpkin pies which were awarded as prizes. Several other guessing contests caused much merriment and dancing closed a very jolly evening. There will be numerous other "doings" taking place without official announcement so members had better attend the meetings regularly.

MRS. CHASE HOSTESS TO COMMITTEE

Mrs. A. S. Chase of Riverdale Drive was hostess yesterday to the committee which is to have charge of the grandmother's booth at the fair to be held by women of the First Congregational church.

It was an all-day session with a picnic lunch at noon for which the hostess furnished tea and coffee and dessert. Twenty ladies were present and a great deal of work was accomplished. Prospects are bright for a big and beautiful bazaar for which the ladies are working with additional enthusiasm now that the new church is to materialize in the near future.

Carroll Parcher of Tujunga was the week-end guest of Arthur Campbell at his home in North Glendale.

Purely Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dick, Jr., are spending a few days at Downey with Mrs. Dick's brother, Dr. C. E. Stanley. Mr. and Mrs. Dick have been staying at 309 North Louise street with their parents, but soon expect to locate here.

Mrs. Charles P. Brice of 304 North Kenwood street is spending a few days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Christy, at Downey.

Mrs. Mary Beaucamp, 1210 South Glendale avenue, has as her house guests Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bolte, who arrived last week from Alva, Okla. They have come to spend the winter here and may possibly locate permanently. They have many other friends here from the same city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hurd, 110 South Adaams street, entertined at dinner Wednesday evening, Mrs. G. A. Elliott and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Glenn of San Francisco, Miss Veda Knapp and C. S. Westlake. A very delightful musical evening was enjoyed.

Mrs. A. G. Reynolds, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. R. W. Brown of this city, has returned to her home in Los Angeles.

H. D. Houdyshel, who has been the guest of his parents, of 308 North Orange street, has returned to his home in Taft.

Mrs. Julina Hayes, 1214 South Maryland, returned Sunday from an absence of several months in the East. She attended the national convention of the G. A. R. in Indianapolis as the delegate of the Women's Relief Corps of the department of California and Nevada. She also visited her daughter in Kansas City and her old home in Illinois.

Mrs. Grace Shaver of Manhattan Place, Los Angeles, and her sister, Mrs. Kinght, drove to Glendale yesterday, where they spent the day with Mrs. George B. Woodbury, 345 North Kenwood street.

Mrs. George B. Dartt of 113 East Wilson street and Mrs. George W. Anderson of 125 South Kenwood street, are spending a week at La Jolla. They will return to their homes in Glendale early next week.

Bruce Murr, salesman of the Standard Oil, and his family, who have been residing at 1611 Gardena avenue, have moved to Los Angeles. Mrs. Blair, owner of the property, expects to put it upon the market.

GLENDALE HIGH TO PLAY FRANKLIN

The Glendale High school football team will not have to play South Pasadena again. It was decided at a meeting of the Central Athletic League held Wednesday afternoon in South Pasadena that all games in which men who were ineligible participated should be counted as not played and no record be kept of them. This action leaves Glendale, Monrovia and Franklin tied for first place.

Friday afternoon Glendale will play the team from the Franklin High school on the Franklin grounds. This is the hardest game of the season for the local team and will eliminate one of the contenders from the tie. Next Friday Glendale will meet the team from Monrovia on Moyse field.

JOHN MAY MAKES TWO GOALS IN GAME

A fine soccer game was played Wednesday afternoon between teams of Broadway and Doran street schools on the Broadway field. Until within eight minutes of the close the score stood 0 to 0, and then the Broadway boys made two goals, making the score 2 to 0. To John May of Broadway was given credit for making the two goals. Other stars on the Broadway team were Frank Wyckoff and Tyler Robinson, goalkeeper. Norval Stanley, who played center, did fine work on the Doran team and Fred Vorwark also played a very good game.

COLUMBUS WINS IN GOOD SOCCER GAME

The soccer game between teams of Colorado and Columbus schools played on the Colorado field ended in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of Columbus. Until the very last of the game the score ran evenly and seemed likely to end in a tie of 1 to 1 but in the very last minutes of play Columbus boys made a goal. The team work of both contestants was excellent.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which relieves bladder trouble.

PAIN GONE! RUB SORE, RHEUMATIC ACHING JOINTS

Rub Pain Away With a Small Trial Bottle of Old "St. Jacob's Oil"

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism.

It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment, you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.—Adv.

LISTING BUREAU MAY BE STARTED

Realtors Discuss Plan to Have All Property Under Bureau Control

A plan is being discussed by realtors of Glendale for a real estate listing bureau. Many realtors do not like to go after listings because it requires time that should be spent in the office caring for clients. A listing bureau would obviate the necessity of a realtor doing his own listing and would keep all listings up-to-date.

Under the plan tentatively offered a bulletin of benefit to builders, plumbers and electricians would be published. This would contain information regarding property that had been sold, whether or not it will be improved at once and if it is to be improved, what class of buildings will be erected:

Every real estate agent in the city who subscribes to the bureau would supply it with all listings to be kept confidential by the operator of the bureau. This would eliminate the danger of the subscriber being supplied with listings that he already has on file. The operator of the bureau would supply listings to the realtors and would receive his pay in a small commission from the agent in case the property is sold within a reasonable period. The plan has been endorsed by several realtors and is rapidly growing in favor among other agents. It is possible that this bureau will be started within a short period.

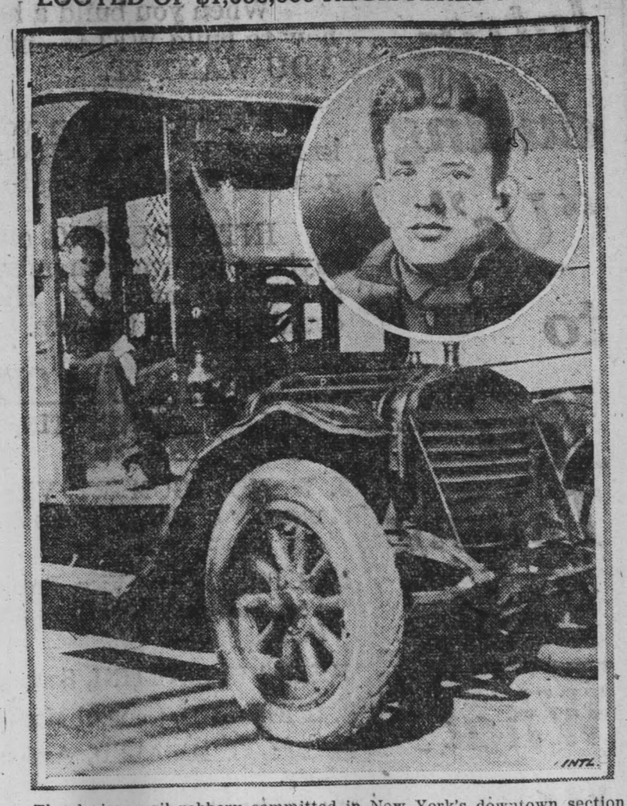
LOOTED OF $1,000,000 REGISTERED MAIL



The daring mail robbery committed in New York's downtown section at ten o'clock at night netted the robbers greater loot than was first estimated. It is now practically certain that the booty of the holdup men will exceed a million dollars. Frank Haverank, the driver of the mail truck, shown in the above photograph, was driving through one of the streets, when a touring car containing three men pulled up alongside the mail truck. They drew revolvers and forced Haverank to drive down a dark and lonely street. In the center of the block the driver was ordered to stop, and the holdup men looked over an assortment of fifteen pouches of mail and selected four containing securities and bonds. Postoffice inspectors working on the case are of the belief that it is the same gang which committed similar robberies in Chicago and Los Angeles.

GLENDALE SINGER ON CLUB'S PROGRAM

Mrs. Catherine Shank Will Sing at Concert Here Friday Night

It should be a matter of local pride and satisfaction that in the program to be given Friday night at the high school by the Glendale Music club, our own townswoman, Mrs. Catherine Shank, will be one of the artists and will sing a selection from an old opera by Mandel for which a special arrangement had to be written to secure the instrumentation she desired.

It will also be an additional cause for satisfaction to know that of the Philharmonic Trio, three are Americans who have definitely adopted California as their permanent home. They are Earl Mansfield Bright, the wonderful 'cellist, and Mrs. M. Hennion Robinson, the accompanist who has made a reputation as accompanist of the Lyric Club and other musical organizations.

Mr. Calmon, the solo violinist who comes to this country after having achieved fame in the capitals of Europe, feels so thoroughly at home in the musical atmosphere of Los Angeles that he too may become a Californian.

A brilliant program has been arranged for Friday night and applications are coming in from music lovers who want to become members of the club. The secretary will be at the high school auditorium by 7:15 to receive applications for membership and any unpaid dues.

POLICE SEEK BOY WHO THREW AN EGG

There is a millionaire in Glendale who, until recently, has kept his health hidden, and wonder of wonders, it is a school boy. The discovery of the millionaire came about through a strange chain of circumstances. Of course there is no way to verify the fact that the boy is worth a million dollars, but police officers are inclined to believe that he is.

Mrs. E. J. Morgan reported to the police that a boy had struck her in the face with an egg. If she had said that a boy had struck her with a brick the act would have been branded as criminal but when she said that the missle hurled was an egg, police are inclined to believe the thrower is a millionaire, for no one but a millionaire could afford to throw eggs at pedestrians at the present high cost of eggs.

An attempt is being made to locate the egg-hurler and one boy has already been haled before the chief of police but he succeeded in proving an alibi and was released.

Long Beach Job—The Rommel Construction Co. has just signed a contract to erect a three-storeroom business block and eleven garages in Long Beach for M. M. Gillespie, who is owner of the block that is going up at the corner of Doran and Brand. Work on this Long Beach job will start immediately and the contract price is $35,000.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

By JOHN BARTON

IF MEN ONLY K NEW DOG TALK?

(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

Yes, Trailer the Hound came racing out of Malty Kitten's cabin and across the Broad Field. Weren't Louie Thomson and Tommy Peele and Trailer's very own master, Tommy's big cousin Sandy, just s'prised to death?

They knew Trailer hadn't clawed that great big hole by the Little Dark Pool. They didn't know who really did, but whoever it was that's who Tommy's dog Watch had been tracking. Of course Watch knew it was the foxes, and he knew that Trailer had tracked them ahead of him, not so very long ago. But he couldn't tell Tommy so.

Trailer the Hound Came Racing Out of Malty Kitten's Cabin and Across the Broad Field.

Trailer bounced up, and then he stopped short. He was wagging his tail till his tail most wagged him, he was curling back his lips in a smile that showed all his teeth, he was just so glad to see them, but—! He remembered that Sandy had promised him a good hard licking if he ever slipped his collar and ran away—and that's just what he had done. So he stood there pleading, "Mm-wow-wow. Er-rwow."

Yet nobody but Watch could understand that he was saying. "Please, Sandy, I'll never do it again. Please, Sandy, don't punish me this time—I've been punished enough."

"Oh, forget about it," Watch advised. "I'll bet you a bone Sandy'll forget about it himself if you don't remind him." It was probably just as lucky Sandy didn't know what he was saying.

Anyway, Sandy was so glad to get Trailer back he only said, "Come along, fool-hound. Any one who can lose himself as easy as you can oughtn't to run 'round alone. You ought to be locked in the chicken yard along with the silly hens."

This hurt Trailer's feelings dreadfully. He whined: "I wasn't lost. But the foxes wouldn't let me come home again."

Of course Sandy didn't understand that either. But by this time Malty Kitten's Man came striding out to see who was doing the talking. "Well, well," he called in his hearty voice. "Come right in. Come right along in and rest yourselves. Malty and I'll scare up something to eat while we're visiting. Is that hound yours? (You know Trailer wasn't with Sandy the time he found Tommy and Louie over at the cabin). I hadn't a notion who he was when he came a-raring past with those foxes after him."

"You mean after the foxes," laughed Cousin Sandy.

"'Deed and I don't," answered Malty's Man. "'Cause they were doing the chasing!"

A SONG ON MILO WHEAT

That wife who thought they'd have a change
And try some other food,
Saw her husband looking down his nose
As though not in good mood.
She quickly noticed something wrong
And said why can't you eat?
He looked straight at his wife and said
Have you no MILO WHEAT?

CHORUS

For all the folks who eat this food
I'm sure you will hear say
For strength, and health, and every ill
It's best we know today
We're living now on MILO WHEAT,
Our bank account will grow
For we can have a good square meal
For three cents now you know.

And then she saw her baby boy
Had pushed his plate aside,
She thought she'd make him eat it—
But he set there and cried.
Her daughter then looked up and said
"I surely have enough,
For after eating MILO WHEAT
I cannot go this stuff."

GLASS FACTORY MAY BE ESTABLISHED IN GLENDALE

Cherry Bros. Here to View Property for Site in Event They Come Here

Councilman Davis and City Engineer Hill showed several tracts of land to the Cherry brothers, glassmakers from the east, Wednesday afternoon. The Cherry brothers are going to establish a factory in Southern California for the manufacture of medicine bottles and after visiting several other cities have decided that Glendale is the place they prefer and if land can be secured the factory will be built here.

The glass factory will mean the advent of about 20 new families. The manufacturers said that they wanted to locate their factory in Glendale chiefly because of the school and church facilities and the fact that shipping is an easy problem.

The men visited Pomona and were offered a bonus to locate there and refused because they did not want to locate so far from Los Angeles. A 20-acre tract at the intersection of Harvard street and San Fernando road was shown to the men Wednesday and is being seriously considered as a site for the factory.

Tailored wash cotton shirtwaists are worn with suits.

WOOLWINE CALLS ON JAIL'S ATTACHES IN INSANITY CASE

Mrs. Obenchain Hopes to be Free Friday She Tells Caller

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—The scene of activity in the Obenchain-Burch tragedy shifted suddenly today from the courtroom of Superior Judge Sidney N. Reeve to the offices of District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine.

A long train of county jail attaches and prisoners thronged the corridors of Woolwine's offices in answer to subpoenas.

"You have had opportunity to observe Arthur C. Burch," was fired at each witness. "Do you think he is crazy."

Signed depositions were taken from the prisoners and attaches. These will be used by Woolwine to combat assertions of Burch's defense that the accused man is insane. The battle over Burch's mental condition will start Monday, when his trial for alleged complicity in the mystery-shrouded slaying of wealthy John Belton Kennedy is to reopen.

Madalynne Obenchain, also under indictment for the Kennedy murder, today recovered from her breakdown of yesterday afternoon.

"I am keeping up my nerve," she said, smiling quietly. "I hope and pray to win my freedom tomorrow."

Judge Reeve is to act tomorrow on a motion by Charles Erbstein, the "fighting Chicagoan," to dismiss the charges against Mrs. Obenchain on the grounds that she has not been brought to trial within the time specified by the penal code. Erbstein is chief counsel for Madalynne.
